Dear Ms. Dortch:

KWWL Television has been a part of the Waterloo community since 1953. Today this broadcasting company serves customers in nearly two dozen eastern Iowa counties as well as viewers in southwest Wisconsin and Northwest Illinois. The station operates newsrooms and sales offices in Waterloo, Dubuque and Cedar Rapids.

KWWL always has played an essential role in covering, news, weather, sports, human interest stories and community activities that touch the lives of all people in their viewing areas. This broadcasting company goes above and beyond to make the communities they serve a better place.

This letter is being submitted to ask that you reconsider new rules that would regulate the nature of local programming and how this broadcasting company gathers information and communicates with local leaders and organizations. This Federal regulation is not necessary to direct broadcasters to air local matters or to determine how they communicate with all components of the communities they serve. KWWL Television is already providing the best possible coverage of all matters affecting our citizens.

Sincerely,

Tim Hurley, Mayor
